Division:

International and Interdisciplinary Collaboration Research Division

Title:

Overseas Hydrogen Research Centers

Abstract:

To explore opportunities for international collaboration, this presentation provides an overview of major hydrogen research centers overseas. In particular, Europe has seen a growing trend toward the establishment of research facilities dedicated specifically to hydrogen-related research. This presentation will introduce the Clean Hydrogen Partnership (CHP), a key organization driving hydrogen research and innovation in Europe, and report on the activities of leading research institutions in this field.
